

pink Elephants???

People joke about drunks seeing pink elephants. But it is not funny. Alcohol, drugs and some illnesses of the brain can cause delusions. This is when people think, see or feel things are real or true when they aren't. A drunk person may think they have good muscle control and judgment. But the alcohol in a few drinks slows responses and affects their control. If they get behind a steering wheel their over-confidence adds speed to the delusion of driving safely. This leads to disaster. Many deaths on the roads are the result.
